

Summer 2014 Fieldwork: Dominic Bush

I was a member of Dr. Kuijt's Clic project in Western Ireland. It was an archaeological excavation of a 19th century house on the abandoned island of Inishark. We were hoping to shed light on the daily life of islanders during the late 18th century to the early 20th century.

